Lynchburg F.A.C. To Present "The Pirates of Penzance"

For the first time in many years Lynchburgers and their neighbors will be treated to a staged production of a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. Six performances of The Pirates of Penzance will be put on by the Lynchburg Fine Arts Center in its theater on June 18, 19,20 and 24, 25 and 27. Admissions are $3.75 adult, and $2.50 Student. The Box Office is open starting Monday, June 14.

The stage director of The Pirates of Penzance is Susan Currie, who has directed four Gilbert & Sullivan operattas and performed in two others.

The musical director, Norman Blake, is an Englishman, and has directed 14 Gilbert and Sullivan musicals. He is music director and history teacher at Virginia Episcopal School, and organist and choir director at First Presbyterian Church, Lynchburg.

The Pirates of Penzance is a delightful comic satire on the pompous institutions and ideas of Mid-Victorian English life. The plot centers around a pirate apprentice's hyperactive sense of duty, which leads him to renounce piracy and devote himself "heart and soul" to the pirates' extermination. The apprentice falls in love with the daughter of a Major General, who has saved his family from the soft-hearted pirates by falsely saying he is an orphan (the pirates spare all orphans!)

As the apprentice is about to lead policemen to destroy the pirates, the pirate king reveals that the indenturing agreement binds the apprentice for "21 birthdays" and, since he was born on Feb. 29th, the agreement has a long time to run. The apprentice's "sense of duty" take sover, playing havoc with love; "Swear you'll be true to me 'til 1940!" (She says, "It seems so long!") After many difficulties, all is right when the Pirates of Penzance turn out to be England's House of Peers. (You'd think someone would have noticed their absence!)

The Pirates of Penzance was written by W. S. Gilbert and Sir Arthur S. Sullivan and had its first performances in 1879, both in England and the U. S. Other well known operettas by Gilbert and Sullivan are The Mikado and H.M.S. Pinafore. Universal acclaim has kept these delightful farces alive for a century and they are being performed nightly in New York and London. It is unlikely that this record will be reached by any other author, except, perhaps, Shakespeare!

Most of the performers of the major roles are veterans of Gilbert and Sullivan productions.

GOOD LUCK Graduate!
